

YOUNG TO PLAY
IN "CORIANTON"

Popular Salt Lake Actor Signs
With Company.

TAKES PART OF HIGH PRIEST

THOMAS COLEMAN ARRIVES FROM NEW YORK.

THERE is no such thing as dodging the old, old adage, "Once an actor, always an actor." It was exemplified yesterday in the engagement of B. S. Young, the well known insurance and real estate man, and the principal character in the old Home Dramatic club, for the part of Alma in "Corianton."

For many weeks Manager Blair has been trying to get Mr. Young to play, but the old actor has steadfastly withheld his consent until yesterday, when he gave in before persuasion and accepted the high priest for a season of six weeks, which will take him as far as the coast.

In all probability Mr. Young will remain with the company permanently. To his friends he often alludes to his "hankering" for the stage and if he can get away from the desire it is more than his friends expect of him. Mr. Young has some of the most dramatic scenes and a strong man is required to play the part. Mr. Young is a fine actor. Although he has confined his efforts to the amateur stage, his forte is the direction of historical, and many a time his townsmen have sighed that he did not enter the profession.

Mr. Young's last part was Gaspard in "The Chimes of Normandy," in which he secured a splendid hit.

Actor From New York.

Thomas Coleman, the popular New York actor, arrived yesterday from New York to begin rehearsals with the "Corianton" company. Mr. Coleman has been playing leading business for Julia Marlowe for several years and is accounted one of the best leading men in America. He is delighted with his part in "Corianton" and says the play is sure to be a hit of the season.

Miss Maude Fealey, the noted actress, was William Gillette's latest season in London, visited Salt Lake yesterday. Accompanied by her mother, she is to return from San Francisco, where for some time Miss Fealey has been playing in F. J. Morley's company.

Miss Fealey came within the proverbial net of playing the part of Belia in "Corianton." She is very enthusiastic over the play, and of Mr. Haworth, with whom she has appeared many times, she speaks in the highest terms. Her husband, Richard, she says, is still the talk of San Francisco, and should "Corianton" there the general would give him a magnificent welcome.

PING PONG WITH BEER

Second South Street Saloon Man
Introduces Society Game as a Feature.

Ping pong has at last reached the zenith of its popularity. It has pounced its way into the drawing rooms of the rich and plied its way into the hearts of the poor.

In fact, the ping of the pong balls has been heard in the stuffy rooms of the society from one end of this continent to the other. In the music of its ping the sorrows of life have been forgotten, and in its pong hearts that have been lost all yearning in the ordinary pleasures of life have been fired with a frenzy of enthusiasm.

It was looked upon as the ideal game for church socials, after dinner parties and other functions where innocent diversion was the object sought. It was not expected that the great American ping game would ping any further than the drawing room and the church parlor. In fact, this was the only drawback to the game. Busy men who had been inveigled to taste of its ping pleasures became so interested in its pong that they forgot to go out in the evening.

But the crisis is past. It is no longer necessary for the business and professional man to hunt up an excuse to go to the lodge or stay at home and play ping pong. An enterprising mikologist of Second South street has introduced the game as a feature of the place, and made it possible to play this favorite game and get a cool glass of beer thrown in. He has introduced a ping pong table and christened his place "The Ping Pong Thirst Parlor," and his place has become so popular that thirty quarters can be seen pushing their way through the door at almost any hour of the day, and the hot afternoon and evening.

With such alluring attractions, ping pong is rapidly losing its attractions as a parlor game. It is not every town that offers its citizens an opportunity to ping pong and perspire under such surroundings, but Salt Lake is nothing if not enterprising. The Second South street man has solved the problem of keeping the busy man away from the lodge, and he also furnishes him with a chance to gratify his taste for ping pong and wash it down with a cool glass of beer.

SPEAKS ON IRRIGATION.

"Water Must Eventually Be Apportioned With Justice to All."

Denver, July 21.—F. H. Newell, chief hydrographer of the United States government, who is in active charge of the work outlined by the irrigation act, delivered addresses on the subject of irrigation today before the Commercial club and the real estate exchange of this city. Mr. Newell explained the provisions of the law, and told what was required of the states in the arid region.

Looking into the future, he said, "one thing is certain, there must come a time when water must be apportioned with justice to all, and a century or more hence it will have been distributed, not upon priority rights, but upon technical rights. We cannot have a farmer getting more water than he is entitled to because his great-grandfather of somebody else happened to secure the water right two hundred years ago. Water must ultimately be apportioned to the most efficient user for the general welfare of all citizens."

The members of the Commercial club unanimously agreed to aid the work of the state in the arid region, and actively to take a hand in pushing forward the irrigation of arid lands in Colorado and tributary territory.

An Engineer's Fast Run.

An engineer on one of the roads entering here, in speaking last night of fast runs said: "Although my machine is not slow, once let a cold get six hours the start of me and my machinery is no match for it. Directors of the Daly-West Company Take Action.

RESOLUTIONS ARE PASSED

RELATIVES OF DEAD MINERS WILL NOT SUFFER.

ONE OF THE FIRST acts of Jacob E. Bamberger, president and general manager of the Daly-West Mining company, upon his return from the east yesterday noon, was to summon the directors of the company and take up matters pertaining to the immediate relief of those who suffered through the calamity that resulted in such an appalling loss of life in the company's mines last Tuesday night. Previous to Manager Bamberger's return, Vice President Wood and other officials of the company did all they could to alleviate the sufferings of the grief-stricken and to see that the dead were properly prepared for burial, in every instance carrying out the wishes of friends and relatives.

It was reported during the afternoon that the directors would decide whether or not the next dividend should be passed in order that the money could be used to meet damage claims. The report had not the least foundation in fact, and its circulation annoyed Manager Bamberger and the directors of the company.

"The matter was never thought of or considered for a moment," said Mr. Bamberger. "We met to consider the questions embodied in the resolutions adopted and to devise means of carrying them into speedy effect; nothing more, nothing less. The question of paying or passing dividends is of secondary importance. It had no place in the meeting held and was not considered."

The resolutions adopted express the feelings of the officials of the company. They call for action, and that they will be carried into effect without delay there is no question. They are as follows:

Resolutions of Sympathy.

Whereas, On the night of the 15th of the present month an explosion occurred in the underground workings of the Daly-West mine, resulting in the loss of life of thirty-four men; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That, in common with all people of the state, we extend to the relatives of those who perished our most profound sympathy in this, the day of their sore affliction. And be it further

Resolved, That in view of the appalling loss of life resulting from this disaster, carrying as it did sorrow and distress into many homes, it is the sense of the board of directors of the Daly-West Mining company, who, as volunteers, laid down their lives in an effort to rescue their comrades from the peril of death; and to this end, the president and manager of this company is directed to ascertain with all possible diligence the situation and financial condition of the wives, children or other dependent relatives of any and all of those who perished. And it is further

Resolved, That this company desires to and will in the near future commemorate in some suitable manner the heroic action of W. M. Harrison, William Smith, Roger Canters, Dominick Regan, Patrick Traynor, George Lindsay, Huston Rolley, Thomas Dalton, Dan Gallivan, Charles McDavott, Henry Johnson, James McGregor, T. F. Devlin, Mike Garratty, John C. Coyne, W. J. Emery, Joseph Tenny, Ole Johnson, Tom Durigan, George Shepherd, E. MacNeil, J. F. Young, C. H. Johnson, Henry Driver, R. T. Stutz, J. W. Simpson, — Logey, Joseph Redley, William McDonnell, Joseph Wright, — Benney, J. A. Weller, Rowe, George Lindsay, Jr., Louis Girard, Tony Lynott, Ed Hall, Val Cramer, J. W. Rooker, H. O. Woods and many others whose names at the present time we have been unable to obtain who, though their lives were mercifully spared, yet unflinchingly faced the most awful peril in an effort to carry succor to those who were stricken.

No Summer Bowel Troubles

Not for me! I'm safe from all of them and happy. The heat of summer causes organic matter everywhere to decay. All dead vegetable or animal matter rots if not kept on ice. All undigested food in the human body will ferment a hundred times as quickly in summer as in winter. Consequence—stomach, liver, bowels poisoned, thrown out of order—sour stomach, gases, colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, appendicitis, and in some regions yellow fever and the plague. Little children suffer terribly everywhere. What does good sense tell you to do? You can't keep the human body on ice, and the drinking of ice-cold drinks does more harm than good because it stops digestion and chills the internal organs. The proper thing is to keep all impure and unnecessary matter out of the body every day, not give it a chance to sour and decay in the stomach and bowels, and poison the blood and the whole body. In this way you will stop all hot, feverish conditions, and keep your insides cool and healthy. To do it, use a medicine that is not offensive to the taste and not harsh and violent in its action. There is only one safe system-cleaner to take in the summer time, because it will not cause diarrhoea or griping, and that is Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 20c, 50c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C. C. C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sample and booklet free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.
